

11.1_B4

Answers

firstly	making the first major support point for your argument for example	supporting the first point with a specific example secondly	making the second major support point another point is ...	adding another related point in support moreover/in addition	adding more information to the point above finally	making the last point