

4.2_Closure

The industrial revolution of the late 20 th and 21 st centuries	Although we live in a time of technological change, the impact of new technology on business is nothing new.	In conclusion,
New technologies have also always brought with them	which has also had a profound effect on business.
has been in computing and information technology.	both opportunities and threats.
In the 1990s, information technology – in partnership with telecommunications – resulted in the globalization of the internet,	digital technologies are developing incredibly fast.