

11.1_B4

Answers

firstly	making the first major support point for your argument for example	supporting the first point with a specific example secondly	making the second major support point moreover	adding more information to the second point finally	making the last point