

4.1_E

| Term | Pronunciation | Abbreviation/Acronym | Meaning |
|------|---------------|----------------------|---------|
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |
|      |               |                      |         |

4.1_E

| Term | Pronunciation | Abbreviation/Acronym | Meaning                                                                                                                                    |
|------|---------------|----------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| AI   |               |                      | artificial intelligence                                                                                                                    |
| eRx  |               |                      | electronic prescribing (also e-prescribing or e-Rx)                                                                                        |
| HTML |               |                      | HyperText Markup Language – a way of formatting text to create webpages                                                                    |
| http |               |                      | HyperText Transfer Protocol – the way data is sent/received on the internet                                                                |
| ICD  |               |                      | International Classification of Diseases – a WHO global health standard                                                                    |
| ISP  |               |                      | internet service provider                                                                                                                  |
| JPEG |               |                      | Joint Photographic Experts Group – a compression standard for images, or an image file made using this standard                            |
| MeSH |               |                      | Medical Subject Headings – used on MEDLINE and other NLM databases                                                                         |
| NIH  |               |                      | National Institutes of Health – US-government-run healthcare research organization                                                         |
| NLM  |               |                      | (US) National Library of Medicine                                                                                                          |
| PACS |               |                      | Picture Archiving and Communication System – technology for storing and viewing medical images, replacing X-ray film                       |
| PDF  |               |                      | Portable Document Format – electronic document format which preserves fonts, formatting, etc., between different devices/operating systems |
| XML  |               |                      | Extensible Markup Language – a system for encoding documents on a computer                                                                 |

4.1_E

Answers

| Term | Pronunciation        | Abbreviation/Acronym | Meaning                                                                                                                                    |
|------|----------------------|----------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| AI   | /,eɪ 'aɪ/            | abbreviation         | artificial intelligence                                                                                                                    |
| eRx  | /,i: a:r 'eks/       | abbreviation         | electronic prescribing (also e-prescribing or e-Rx)                                                                                        |
| HTML | /,eɪtʃ ti: em 'el/   | abbreviation         | HyperText Markup Language – a way of formatting text to create webpages                                                                    |
| http | /,eɪtʃ ti: ti: 'pi:/ | abbreviation         | HyperText Transfer Protocol – the way data is sent/received on the internet                                                                |
| ICD  | /aɪ si: di:/         | abbreviation         | International Classification of Diseases – a WHO global health standard                                                                    |
| ISP  | /,aɪ es 'pi:/        | abbreviation         | internet service provider                                                                                                                  |
| JPEG | /'dʒeɪpeg/           | acronym              | Joint Photographic Experts Group – a compression standard for images, or an image file made using this standard                            |
| MeSH | /meʃ/                | acronym              | Medical Subject Headings – used on MEDLINE and other NLM databases                                                                         |
| NIH  | /,en aɪ 'eɪtʃ/       | abbreviation         | National Institutes of Health – US-government-run healthcare research organization                                                         |
| NLM  | /,en el 'em/         | abbreviation         | (US) National Library of Medicine                                                                                                          |
| PACS | /paeks/              | acronym              | Picture Archiving and Communication System – technology for storing and viewing medical images, replacing X-ray film                       |
| PDF  | /,pi: di: 'ef/       | abbreviation         | Portable Document Format – electronic document format which preserves fonts, formatting, etc., between different devices/operating systems |
| XML  | /,eks em 'el/        | abbreviation         | Extensible Markup Language – a system for encoding documents on a computer                                                                 |